DRI Professional Examination and Certification

All DRI training courses, except the IT DR Planning course, are concluded by a certification examination. The examination is normally scheduled by the teacher at the end of the week in which the course is held; however, the participant is free to access the online platform and take the examination independently, at a time of his/her choice. Among the certifications that can be applied for, the first-level ABCP and ACRP certifications only require passing the examination. For those wishing to acquire the higher certifications CBCP, CBCV and CCRP, these require proof of at least two years' professional experience in the field. The first issue of all certifications requires payment of a one-off fee (between 200 and 400 USD) and directly on the DRI main website www.drii.org and only after successfully passing the examination.
